Exhibits at the Fair.

AT NOROMBEGA HALL

The following is a report of the splendid exhibits in Norombega Hall as seen by our reporter

In the right hand corner as we enter the hall the exhibits of A. K. Dole and George Lansil are seen. They consist of a large number of photographs of all sizes, copied and colored pictures. The next exhibit is cotton and woollen goods, all of Maine manufacture, and is made by Wheelwright & Clark. C. C. Prescott has quite a large space all carpeted and filled with elegant furniture. We lack only time and space to describe the exhibit in this case, as well as in many others to be mentioned.

The Bangor Decorative Art Club have a show case filled with very beautiful pieces of work accomplished by members of the club who are competing for the amateur premium

The Waltz sewing machine in operation is exhibited by Clark & Freeman of Boston, whose Bangor agent is Dwelley & Co. The Domestic machine exhibited by A. L. Bourne of this city, attracts much attention. The machines of this kind are all furnished with skilful operators, and samples of the sewing done are freely distributed

The table on the right hand side as one enters the hall and running from the entrance to the stage contains the exhibits of Kenduskeag work, linen and cotton embroidery, silk embroidery, and worsted embroidery. There are a large number of exhibitors in these classes, and the greater proportion of the work shown is most neatly and skilfully executed and does much credit. One of the finest things shown is a plush embroidered easy chair by Mrs. I. Hincock, of Bucksport. In the middle of the hall near the stage, is a very creditable exhibit of fancy goods by L. W. Addis, of this city.

We next come to the beautiful display made by D. S. Bowler, who has the National History Store, on Main street. He has a large pyramid erected on which are samples of his stock, and of his own work. The most prominent animals in the display are the Polish lynx and the Indian, which there are a great number of large and handsome birds. Two peacocks, with tails spread, stand on the apex of the pyramid. Over the latter and suspended from the top of the hall is an eagle plumbing on a fish hawk that has a fish in its claws. The mounting is very natural and the slight attracts much attention. Mr. Bowler is certainly entitled to much credit for his efforts to make this fine exhibit.

J. I. Snow, of Main street, next has a good exhibit of clothes and wraps of all kinds.

J. Wintermun, Exchange street, has samples of men's, youths' and boys' clothing attractively shown.

L. J. Wheelden exhibits a Hallett & Davis piano, with a case of handsome design and finish, and clearly toned. He also has an Ithica organ, and Household and Leader sewing machines in full operation.

V. W. Dome exhibits door plates of all designs, and Albert Lowis exhibits boxes of cigars made at his factory on Exchange street. Henry Hopkins, of Hampden, shows a tiger skin rug which is very handsome, and much admired.

Mrs. Billings has a good display of fancy goods.

The Union Manufacturing Company have a large exhibit of all kinds of soap made by them, including their famous campaign soaps. Mrs. C. V. Crossman, of this city has a beautiful exhibit of Kensington work. Near her display is a show case filled with hand painted silk and other goods. Mrs. F. D. Meigs, of Dexter, has a large and much observed display of art needle work. Next to this is the exhibit of fancy goods belonging to Dwelley & Co.

On the left hand side of the hall near the stage, is the handsome exhibit of Geo. W. Merrill & Co. They have a large space filled up like a room and in it can be seen some of the finest furniture manufactured. Next to this is the exhibit of A. H. Roberts & Son, which, like the windows of their store attracts unusual attention.

In miscellaneous articles, Mrs. Charles Hamlin has a wedding bonnet brought from Paris, and made of spun glass. Gen. Chas. Hamlin has some Spanish relives, and E. M. Hersey has a German beer mug.

J. H. Glergue has specimens of his wigs and hair goods exhibited.

P. H. Vose & Co. have a dazzling display of silver and china ware. They occupy quite a large space and their exhibit is an exceedingly fine one. Many admiring remarks were heard last evening from people who viewed it.

George W. Stevens has a good exhibit of ladies' underwear made on the Singer sewing machine.

Weston with his usual enterprise makes a large show of his work, and we need not say that it is unexcelled by any display of this kind in the hall. Next to Mr. Weston's exhibit is the Turkish bazaar, which is fitted up in Oriental magnificence, and is one of the most attractive corners in the hall.

On the stage are the exhibits of Geo. S. Silsby and the Estey Organ Company. The former has three pianos and two organs, all very fine instruments. The latter has but organ and one piano. On the rear of the stage is the art exhibition, which is the finest ever seen in Bangor. There are large numbers of rugs and quilts suspended from the front of the galleries.

Obituary.

THE LATE HON. B. D. GILMAN—INCIDENTS OF AN EVENTFUL LIFE.

Hon. Benjamin D. Gilman, of Orono, died at his residence there Tuesday. He was born in Gilmanton, N. H., March 10, 1799, and therefore had reached the ripe age of eighty-five years and six months. He was the oldest of the five children of his father, Josiah Gilman, all of whom are now deceased. He lived in his native town till he was twenty-six years of age, engaged in the various occupations incident to a residence in a farming community, when he removed, in 1825, to Sebec, in Piscataquis county, and there continued farming and was also engaged in trade and in the manufacture of lumber. Here, he married Miss Morrison, a sister of Hon. John Morrison, of East Corinth, in 1830. In 1837 he was made sheriff, and as such helped organize the first Court ever held in that county. In 1840, he was chosen President Elector on the Whig ticket, and cast his vote, with his colleagues for Harrison and Tyler, in the electoral college at the State House.

In 1841 he removed with his family to Orono, where he has since resided, continuing in the lumber business, and also engaging in farming. In 1843 he was again chosen Presidential elector on the Republican ticket, and helped to cast the vote of the State for Lincoln and Johnson, over after this he always declined official honors his entire time being consumed in his business operations.

About 1841 he built the North Twin Dam, a huge structure, nearly 700 feet long, 100 feet wide at bottom and 25 feet high, from timber hewed on the spot. The posts to sustain the gates were of pine or ash sixteen to twenty inches square, extending the full hight of the dam. At the time, the late Gen. Sumner Veazie owned a charter to build a dam in the vicinity, but as his civil engineer reported that it would cost $50,000, and even then could not be made perfectly safe, owing to the nature of the soil, he, gave it to Mr. Gilman, who with his partner assumed one-fourth of the expense, Deacon Thatcher one-fourth and Fisk and Norcross the remaining half. On the 15th of August he started with Brownville with a crew of seventy men, and arriving some thirty-six hours in advance of the provisions sent up by boat, they were obliged to live on herbs and berries and such game as could be secured and cooked without salt or other seasoning.

Late Sunday afternoon the boats arrived and the party partook of the first square meal cooked on the spot, and eaten from tables constructed while waiting for the provisions. Monday morning the work began and was prosecuted with such skill and energy that early in December it was finished, there being four inches of snow on the ground. The dam flowed six lakes above it, and had twenty-six gates, each six feet by eight, to regulate the discharge of the water as needed below. The charter required the dam to be built to the acceptance of the land agent or no tolls could be collected, and was so thoroughly well done, that Hon. E. L. Hamlin, then land agent, was perfectly satisfied and approved it after careful inspection. Many of the original timbers are now standing in it, and the structure remains to-day a monument to Mr. Gilman's business skill and capacity. The total cost was six thousand dollars and three cents, being just three cents more than his estimate, and over ten thousand dollars in tolls were taken the first year.

In giving an account of the work done, to the owners, Mr. Gilman said "Never did men work better and never was there a whimper among them." Four meals per day were the rule, and these were as good as money would buy. In the prosecution of his business in later years, after some reverse which severely crippled him, he acquired a considerable property, and was always generous and just with those he employed. He was a man of intense energy, and when he relied on his own judgment solely, was always successful. His word was as good as his bond, and he died as he had lived enjoying the confidence and respect of all to whom he was known. His family consisted of his wife who survives him, Ann M., wife of E. P. Treat, of Monroe, Wis., Mary F., wife of C. M. Gould, of Orono, Helen, wife of Capt. N. B. Treat, also of Monroe, Wis., George P. Gilman, of Orono, and Martha W., (now deceased) wife of D. F. Emery, Esq., of Portland. The burial services will take place from his late residence at two o'clock this Thursday afternoon

The Last Laugh.

ORONO REPUBLICANS JUBILANT.

The Democrats and Republicans of Orono had each their fund of rejoicing on receipt of the election returns Monday evening. At close of the polls in Orono it was announced that Lewis Rep., was 60 ahead in the town, and the Republicans wore a confident look till about an hour later, the returns came in from Glenburn that Atwell Dem., was 60 ahead in that town, whereupon the Democrats were so happy that they gave hearty cheers for the success of their candidate who was satisfied of his election! About nine o'clock returns from Hermon were received announcing twenty-four majority for Lewis, and then the matter being considered settled, as all the towns, composing the district had been heard from, the Republicans began to rejoice and in a few minutes, the church bells were rung, pouring out peal after peal till the town was aroused, bonfires were lighted in several places and general rejoicings ensued. The boys felt so good, however, at their success, that they could not refrain from going to the homes of the candidates who were elected, and giving hearty cheers, before, repairing to their own homes. Never was there a more earnest contest in that town, one more quietly conducted, at the polls, or one which left so much good feeling on all sides at the result.

The vote on the Constitutional Amendment in Orono was: Yes, 238; No, 146; majority 92.

CURES FOR LUNG DISEASES.

Dr. Robert Newton, late President of the Eclectic College, of the city of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used Dr Wm. Hall's Balsam very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients, now living, and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of lung disease. It cures Consumption and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

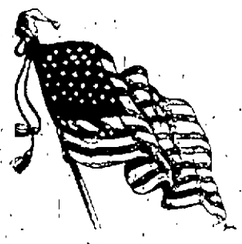
THE FOURTH DISTRICT.



A Tremendous Serenade!

RETURNS FROM 131 TOWNS.

Boutelle Leads Lynch 5,684!

Five Thousand Majority Over All!

A MAGNIFICENT VICTORY.

We publish below the returns of the Congressional vote in the Fourth District so far as received, and they speak louder than any words of the magnificent victory won. The returns comprise the vote of 131 towns and plantations, giving an aggregate of 29,280 votes, an increase of 1,199 over that of two years ago. The vote is divided as follows: Boutelle, Republican, 17,158; Lynch, Democrat, 11,474; Sprague, Greenback, 167; Rease, Prohibition, 181. Mr. Boutelle's majority over Lynch 5,684; majority over all 5,036. The remaining towns gave in 1882 a Democratic plurality of 142. By these returns Mr. Boutelle has doubled his plurality in the same counties two years ago, and made a net gain of 8,510 since his first nomination in a district that at the previous Congressional election went against the Republicans by 2,825 majority.

The Counties of the Fourth Congressional District have covered themselves with glory, and have the honor of contributing a very large share of the Republican gains that emphasize the great triumph in the State.

Here are the eloquent figures:

Still Booming!

Returns from remote sections increase the Republican majority beyond all expectations. Gov. Robie's majority over Redman already reported is about eighteen thousand and is likely to exceed any majority ever given by the party except in the two years 1865 and 1866, immediately following the war.

The Republicans have carried every county in the State and elected every State Senator. The magnitude of the Republican vote, surpassing that of all previous years, is a surprise to both parties and indicates that large numbers of hitherto Democrats voted the Republican ticket.

The silly attempt to belittle the remarkable triumph in this State has proved as utter a failure as Cleveland's candidacy, and the Republicans of the whole country are enthusiastic over the glorious result in Maine.

Honor to Whom it is Due.

In the midst of the general rejoicing over the splendid victory of Monday, it is proper to pay tribute of honor to the responsible head of the Republican party, Hon. George C. Wing, Chairman of the State Executive Committee to whose tireless energy, sagacious management and thorough organization we are indebted beyond measure for the grand results achieved. Judge Wing has proved a most able commander in the great contest, and we congratulate him upon the brilliant success he has achieved. The Republicans of the State and Country are greatly indebted to him.

The District.

Mr. Gibson, the staff correspondent of the New York Tribune, thus refers in his special despatch to the vote in this Congressional District:

"The returns from the back towns of this Congressional district show splendid results. Mr. Boutelle's majority is over 4,500, nearly double that of 1882 and a net gain of over 7,000 since his first nomination in 1880. The Democrats in trying to find excuses for the result in the State, talk about Mr. Blaine having been dragged about and yet he did not attend a single meeting in this district, which comprises over one third in area of the State. This shows that his personal presence was not necessary to ensure an enormous increase in the Republican vote and it is also a gratifying tribute to Mr. Boutelle's fidelity to his constituents."

It would seem to be about time to apply a "horizontal reduction" to those belated Democratic campaign flags, by applying the shears just above the names of "Redman and Lynch."

It doesn't appear that Mr. Lynch would have obtained a very large "majority," even if the scheme to throw Piscataquis out of the district had succeeded.

The Boston Herald mugwump makes up the ugliest face imaginable in the desperate effort to whistle over the Maine avalanche.

The Boston Advertiser can have one consolatory feeling in the midst of its chagrin at the great Republican victory in Maine, viz: that it was in spite of the falsehood lying it was able to obtain from this city.

The Democratic vote of Brownville was erroneously printed by us as 110, when it was only 10. In a little while there will be no Democrats left there.

Mr. Lynch complained everywhere on the stump that if the State had been fairly districted he would easily be elected to Congress. Perhaps Mr. Lynch or some friend of his will kindly indicate, in the light of the people's votes, just how he would draw the lines to constitute a Democratic District in this section. Since the election in the East Machias class perhaps John C. Talbot would assist in the job.

The skilled Mechanic, the Clerk, the Tradesman, all know very nearly the amount they can earn in any given time, and nine tenths of mankind base their abilities to meet future wants or obligations upon the assumption that they will live out the time and meet with no interference. It is just here that Life Insurance can be called in to make absolutely sure that which, without it, is mere assumption of facts. A life policy warrants to the family the amount insured, and in no other way can a man so warrant to his family the money value of life, without depositing in some way the principal sum. MAINE NEWS.

WHERE WILL IT STOP?

Republican Majority Still Increasing.

TREMENDOUS TRIUMPH.

BOSTON, Sept. 10. The Journal has returns from 420 towns, showing the following vote: Roble, 77,155; Redman, 3; Scattering, 3,535. The remaining 5 voted in 1882 as follows: Roble 1, Plaisted, 2,500; Scattering, 14. The Republican majority so far as heard from is 34, which will probably be increased slightly.

The total vote so far reported is 137,037, which will be increased to over 142,000, the largest ever cast except in 1880. The Republican vote will reach nearly 80,000, the largest ever given in Maine.

The Second District.

With full returns of the Congressional vote this district give Dingley 20,531; Talbot (Dem.) 14,750; scattering 2,047, Dingley's majority 3,734.

Despatch to Gen. Logan.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 10. The following despatch was forwarded to-day to Hon. John A. Logan, Chicago, Ill.: Returns from other sections of the State increase our majority beyond all expectations. In 338 towns the Republican majority over Redman exceeds 18,000; and the prospect is that with complete returns the majority will reach 19,000 and possibly be the largest ever given in the history of the Republican party in Maine with two exceptions at the close of the war. The returns show that the Republicans carried every county in the State and elected every member of the State ticket. The magnitude of the Republican victory is surprising to both parties and it is that large numbers of Democrats joined our ranks.

(Signed) WALKER BLAINE.

Immense Majority for the Amendment.

BOSTON, Sept. 10. The Journal publishes returns from over 300 towns on the prohibitory constitutional amendment which give 49,444 in favor and 19,165 against, a majority for the amendment of 30,279. This majority will be increased by returns to come in to over 40,000.

Going Higher all the Time.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 9. Three hundred and eight towns give Roble 69,878; Redman, 317. These are not official figures. The complete official returns will not be in for several days.

Washington County.

CALAIS, Sept. 10. Nine additional towns in Washington County give Roble 209; Redman 233, making Roble's majority over Plaisted 24 in the county. The four towns to hear from gave Roble 107; Plaisted 145.

LAWRENCE ENCAMPMENT

Calls on Mr. Blaine.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 10. Kearsarge Encampment I. O. O. F., of Lawrence, visited this city to-day and paid their respects to Mr. Blaine. They were invited to his residence by the Augusta Encampment of this city. At 11 A. M., the visitors formed line in front of the house and kept playing a salute. In response Mr. Blaine appeared and spoke as follows: "I thank you sincerely for the compliment you pay me by this call and so far as one citizen can extend the hospitality of Maine I do you welcome to our State. We are much honored with the presence of visitors from Massachusetts and I am glad they always find a welcome from the Pine Tree Statesmen and friends in Maine. Trusting that your visit may in all respects be agreeable I again thank you, gentlemen, for the honor you pay me by calling at my residence." After Mr. Blaine had left from the band the companies marched to the State House and were received by His Excellency Gov. Roble, who addressed them briefly. The encampment returns home at 4 o'clock.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

A Brakeman Killed.

PORTLAND, Sept. 10. Warren Winkley, of North Berwick, married, 35 years of age, was killed on a west bound freight train on the Eastern Railroad last night. He was a brakeman, and left here on the train at about 8 o'clock. On the arrival at Boston he was released and the engine went back for him. His mangled remains were found near Scarboro, three trains having passed over and cut his body into small pieces. It is supposed that he fell between the cars. He was a steady, faithful man and was respected by all who knew him. He leaves a family in North Berwick. An inquest will be held to-day.

HOT WEATHER.

Several Deaths Reported.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10. Inquests were held to-day on the bodies of the five men who died yesterday from the effects of the heat. Two sunstrokes are reported this afternoon. Animals at the State Fair are suffering terribly from the heat.

SHREWD THIEF.

Arrested for Robbing the Mail.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. A driver named Murray, employed by a contractor for the delivery of the mail was arrested on a charge of robbing the mail. It is said Murray had a duplicate key for the mail pouch and that he had an accomplice whom he used to secrete in the wagon and who selected the letters possessing money or valuables while the wagon was on the way to the depot.

A BIG FRAUD.

A Rotten Concern.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 10. Bayne & Daley's failure is pronounced the worst case of fraud the South has seen for years. The firm issued warehouse receipts for 12,000 rolls of bagging and claimed an advancement of $4 on each bag. An investigation resulted in the discovery that only 5,000 rolls remained. The firm used false receipts and the frauds is so bold as to have been impossible but for the firm's standing. Seven Louisville banks and many in the country suffer heavily.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Schooner Damaged.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Sept. 10. The schooner Red Jacket, Rockland, from Rondout, for Gloucester, with a cargo of cement ran ashore at Robinson's Hole, this morning, during a thick fog, but was floated without assistance and towed to this port, leaking about eight hundred strokes per hour. She will be examined by divers.

Messrs. J. H. and L. E. C. Hinckley, of this city, who recently graduated from Dartmouth College, leave to-night for Albany, N. Y., where they are pursuing the study of law. These young gentlemen came home to help swell the grand Republican majority.

The spacious residence of Emery H. Bally, Esq., of Howland, the Representative elect, has been filled to overflowing by admiring friends every afternoon and evening since his election. Many of them coming a distance of fifteen miles. All are given a cordial welcome and are most hospitably entertained. Mr. Bally is an honored and respected citizen and will be a valuable legislator.

A GOOD TEAM. A. W. McLean, of this city, has had a very fine digger made with which he will do job work about the city. It is elegantly lettered and painted, the work being done by Staples & Ring, of this city. The seat is elevated and bears the owner's name. The horse used is a very handsome black roan, and the harness is of the finest manufacture and does great credit to its maker, C. S. Lombard, of this city. The whole turnout seems too good to use for jobbing purposes.

A PLACE OF RESORT FOR YOUNG MEN. Young men who are tired out and weary of tramping around the Fair grounds and city during this week of the Fair, are reminded that the cool and handsome parlors and reading room of the Young Men's Christian Association are open and free for them to enjoy, being open every day from 8 A. M., until 9.30 P. M., and it is therefore not necessary for any young man to frequent the saloon or questionable places of resort, making no an excuse that they knew of no other place to go. Strangers are always made welcome at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Go and see for yourself.

A HAPPY EVENT. An event especially pleasing to those immediately interested, and only less so to their many friends, took place at Foxcroft last Monday forenoon, at which time Mr. Edward J. Mayo, son of Hon. Josiah B. Mayo, was united in marriage to Miss Anna M. Gentlner, all of Foxcroft, the ceremony being performed by Rev. D. A. Morehouse, in the presence only of the families of the bride and groom. A large number of beautiful presents were received. The happy couple left home in the afternoon train, stopping at night at the Bangor House, and starting next morning on a wedding tour in the West, to be absent some four weeks. Our best wishes go with them.

Second Day of the Fair.

A Very Large Attendance.

FINE TROTTING MATCHES.

Exciting Base Ball Game.

The Hall Exhibits.

To-day's Specialties.

Yesterday opened very warm and clear and was a nice day for the Fair. The city streets were crowded in the morning with vehicles of all descriptions, all loaded heavily, and wending their way toward Maplewood. The game of ball between the Portlands and Bangors attracted many lovers of that sport and by ten o'clock a great many people were on the grounds waiting for the game to be called. As was predicted in yesterday's Whig it was very close and exciting and was called the best ever played in Maine. Both nines played very finely and twelve innings were necessary to decide the game. The Portlands won in the twelfth inning by bunched hits and costly errors on the part of the Bangors. The score was eight to five at the finish and five to five at the close of the eleventh inning. The winning side certainly cannot have much cause to congratulate themselves. There is no doubt but the Bangor nine would have won the game if they had ever practised or even played together before.

The following are the names and positions of the Portland nine: Barnes c., Abbott 1. f. and c., Fish p., Callahan c. and 1. f., Chatterson s. s., Muller 1b., Hutchinson 2b., Gulliver 2b., Freligh r. f.

The names and positions of the Bangor nine follow: Richardson c., Ayer 1b., Nichols p., Ray 2b., Hull 3b., Donohue l. f., Davis s. s., Rice l. f., Jackson r. f.

The features of the game were the splendid fielding and batting of Richardson and Ray, and the pitching of Nichols. The three base hit by Ray at the beginning of the eleventh inning brought forth storms of applause. The Portlands made but seven base hits, while the Bangors made thirteen. The Portlands made 10 errors and the Bangors 7. The first baseman on each side played finely. The time of the game was three hours and one-half, and it was umpired by Mr. Upton, of Lynn, Mass.

Probably six hundred or a thousand people stood on their feet and watched the game during the whole time. The Portland nine felt greatly elated over their victory and said that it was the hardest game they ever had played.

THE HALLS AT THE PARK.

The exhibition of machinery at the hall beneath the grand stand is one of the best, if not the best ever seen in this State; the different machinery firms in the city have full exhibits, while the manufacturers for whom they are agents are represented. No pains have been spared by the managers to make the exhibit of agricultural implements perfect in every particular, and they have well succeeded in this undertaking.

George Tyler, of Boston, exhibits the Victor Road Machine. This is its first year in New England, and Mr. Tyler stated that in all competitive trials his machine had been victorious.

The Walter A. Wood Company have a good exhibit of mowing machines and reapers.

R. B. Dunning exhibits the Champion rake, Sulky plow, and other implements.

A. W. Gray & Son, of Vermont, exhibit a one-horse and two-horse power machine for threshers. They also have a thresher, separator and cleaner, fitted up with the patent iron cylinder.

T. B. Everett & Co., of Boston, have a very fine exhibit of all kinds of agricultural implements. All are in fine condition and of substantial manufacture.

J. P. Holley, of Farmington, exhibits swivel plows,

Daniel T. Kelley exhibits plows, mowers, and cultivators.

The Richardson Manufacturing Company exhibit the Kemp Manure Spreader which has been so widely introduced upon farms for the past few years. They also have Adriance's reapers, Buckeye mowers, and hay tedders.

Hardy & Bartlett, of this city, have a large and interesting exhibit of all kinds of agricultural implements. The display is one of the best in the building, and is viewed by large crowds.

The Hinckley & Egery Iron Co., have two engines and a shingle machine of their standard manufacture on exhibition. This firm is one of the most reliable in the State, and is noted throughout the country for the fine machines manufactured by them.

The Spalding Jack Co., of Richmond, Maine, have a number of their instruments exhibited.

The most admired exhibition in the building is that of G. W. P. Jerrard, of Caribou, Aroostook County. He has specimens of the minerals and soil of the county. Next to these are found samples of the woods of the county and shingles manufactured in Aroostook. A barrel of potato starch made there is shown, and a handsome specimen of a mounted caribou is much admired. Mr. Jerrard has samples of all the grains, and grasses of the section with their seeds, and handsome specimens of all the vegetables grown in the county. He shows Aroostook wool and cloths of domestic manufacture. Glass hives full of bees are seen, and yesterday the queen bee in one of them was laying and many were attracted by this novel sight. The famous honey produced by Mr. Jerrard's bees is shown near them. The whole of the exhibit is viewed by crowds of people who can hardly believe that all the articles were raised in Aroostook, as it is yet early in the season for the display of cereals and vegetables so fully developed.

Passing into the upper portion of the hall, we come to the exhibit of A. L. Bourne of this city, consisting of Davis sewing machines in full operation. O. S. Norton of Strong exhibits his fruit evaporator. M. B. Cheeley of Monmouth, has a band saw which does fine work.

J. C. Bazzel of this city, exhibits the Heath and Milligan prepared paints, which took the first prize at the New England Fair. W. H. Tuttle & Co., of Canandaigua, N. Y., have a potato digger on exhibition, and G. B. Olin & Co., have a spring tooth harrow, wheelbarrow and seeder.

The Maine State Prison makes a fine display of harnesses manufactured there, and also sleds and wagons. A combined step ladder and bench is exhibited by M. H. Tyler & Co., of Portland.

An article attracting much attention is a patent incubator and brooder exhibited by N. P. Haskell of Orono. Dr. S. F. Cochin of Stoneham, exhibits his compound vapor bath.

A large and complete exhibit of stoves and ranges is made by S. T. Thompson & Son, of this city. Their display is very good, and contains the famous Rubi range in all its sizes. Next to this exhibit is that of Wood, Bishop & Co., who make a fine display of furnaces and ranges. This firm is one of the oldest in Maine and their samples put Maplewood to them great credit.

A company of glass blowers from the establishment of Woodruff & Wall, Boston, do very handsome work and are surrounded by an admiring crowd. The exhibition of their samples is very beautiful, and it is wonderful to see the forms into which glass can be worked in their experienced hands.

L. J. Wheelden makes a fine display of Miller, Hallett & Davis and Knabe upright pianos, and Ithaca organs. He also has Loader and Household sewing machines in full operation.

The Bangor Stone-ware Company have workmen in the hall busy engaged in modelling their wares. They are surrounded by an interested crowd all the time, and one can watch them hours without feeling at all tired.

J. C. Bickford & Co. of Lewiston exhibit six styles of Cooley creamers and Davis swing churn, Eureka butter worker, butter press and pneumatic fruit dryer.

T. F. Cassidy has a large exhibit of blocks and ship hardware. It is very well arranged and gives one a good idea of the varying size of blocks.

Henry McLaughlin makes a grand display of his boat goods. He has the Ingersoll rock drills and the Denne steam pump. The Hayward fire extinguisher occupies a prominent place in the exhibit. H. W. Johns' asbestos is exhibited in all its forms, and a number of different sizes of fence wire and wire rope can be seen. One of the best things in the exhibit is Getchell's high and low water alarm, which is a perfect safeguard against boiler explosions.

The Hartford Chemical Works exhibit their Lavine soap. Next to this is the Kendall Manufacturing Company, who are represented here by Mr. J. F. Parker. They exhibit Sonpine, the celebrated dirt killer, which is so well known to all the house wives as to need no complimentary notice. Their display is very fine and one of the most attractive in the building. Mr. Parker very obligingly explains and answers all questions about the compound.

George B. Hecker & Co. have a fine exhibit of their self-rising flour. Cakes are made of it and eaten by the many visitors to the building. The Whig reporter was of course treated and heartily recommends them to others who may see the exhibit.

George S. Silsby exhibits Fisher, Norris & Fletcher pianos and New England and Taylor and Farley organs. E. A. Buck & Co., have a show case filled with very neatly finished moccasins and shoes. The Diamond Wrench Company exhibit those tools and have a man to explain their operation to the visitors. Richardson's carbonized pipe is exhibited here and is worth examining by all who are interested in drainage and building materials.

Quite a number of opticians are in the building and one would think that the greatest proportion of the people have poor eyesight, to watch these gentlemen make sales.

In the hall above the one already described are long lines of coops containing hens, ducks, geese, turkeys and other representatives of the feathered tribe. The building resounds with the quacking, crowing and gobbling of these specimens. On long tables in these halls are vegetables, cereals, and pickles and jellies of domestic preparation.

We have not time or space to give each exhibitor in these departments special mention but the whole display is very meritorious.

A FINE SHOW OF SHEEP.

The display of sheep is very large and one of the best ever seen here.

W. B. Ferguson of Dixmont and George P. Greenleaf of Starks have some fine looking animals. Those belonging to the latter are grade Spanish.

Winslow Arey of Hampden has some very pretty Cotswolds and Southdowns.

F. B. Hilton of Starks has 23 Spanish merinos, and Hebron Luce of Bangor has Southdowns.

C. P. Mattocks of Portland makes a good display, but probably the largest and best is the show of Shropshires from the Maine State College farm at Orono. Mr. G. M. Gowell, the efficient farm superintendent, has taken great pains with his sheep, and shows some exceedingly fine specimens.

THE RACES.

There was a very large attendance at the Park yesterday, the crowd being variously estimated at from six to eight thousand. The day was fine, though very warm, and the regular and special trains from out of town brought great numbers to the Fair.

The first race for the day was the unfinished stallion race, which was left Tuesday night with two heats to each by Watchmaker and Aroostook Boy and one to Gray Dan.

The final heat was won by Watchmaker, Gray Dan second, Aroostook Boy third.

Time—2.37¼.

The purse was awarded, first to Watchmaker, second to Aroostook Boy, third to Gray Dan.

The second day's races began at two o'clock, the first called being the four year olds, for which there were seven entries and but three starters. Louis J. had the first heat completely his own way, and but for going under the wire almost at a walk McAloon might have distanced the field.

On the second heat Bannockburn took the lead and kept it to the half mile, with Louis J. and Knight close on his heels. McAloon shot ahead on the turn, and at the three-quarter pole was two good lengths ahead and was the winner of the heat.

On the third heat Louis did not get a good start, but quickly went to the front, with Bannockburn second. On the back stretch the latter broke and Knight passed to the second place, and these positions were held to the finish.

The second race was for the 2.31 class, in which there were nine entries and five starters.

This race was hotly contested, and five heats were required to be trotted. Although Watchmaker had trotted in the stallion race the previous day, finishing in the forenoon, he came up to the work in good style, capturing the first heat and taking the second money.

This was a hard fought race, and the horses were driven for all they were worth, and the five heats trotted were very interesting. Geo. O. got the second and third heats and was ahead in the fourth, but was set back to second place for running, and the heat given to Jack Spratt. The fifth heat was lost, got away without a great deal of scoring, and Hastings was fined $5, for scoring ahead of the horse who had the pole.

In the fifth and last heat Watchmaker took the lead at the start, but it was quickly taken from him by Geo. O., who held it to the close, the other horses struggling for second place, and alternately changing positions. The heat and race was won by Geo. O., Jack Spratt breaking badly and being distanced. Second money was given to Watchmaker and third to Wormwood. Gray Nose fourth.

Next in order was the running match (flat) in which three St. John horses competed, and which was one of the most interesting events of the day. On the first heat Sorilla and Belle Brandon made a bold push for the front, Patience being left far behind till after passing the third turn when Belle weakened and Patience struck out, overtaking Sorilla on the last turn and the race down the home stretch was neck and neck, and of the most exciting character, Patience passing under the wire ahead by a neck, with Belle far behind. On the second heat the horses started out much the same as on the first, but while Belle seems good for a half mile she lacks staying qualities and went to the rear while Patience went to the front as before and the heat was a repetition of the first, Patience coming under the wire with Sorilla at her flank.

Henry W. Brown, of Newburg, has his exhibit at the entrance of the hall.

S. C. Harlow follows with a very fine display of eighty varieties of apples, fourteen of pears, five of grapes, and three of plums. Mr. Harlow is one of our noted fruit fanciers and takes great pride in showing his exhibit.

Carter, of Etna, I. L. Rollins, of Garland, Chas. D. Chapman, of Orrington, W. H. Knight, of Garland, O. L. Larrabee, of West Tovant, A. H. Farmington, of Holden, E. Colburn and T. S. Mrs. E. A. Wharff, Miss E. A. Eaton, Mrs. Shattard, Miss Louise Venzie, and Mrs. John Savage of this city, and Mrs. Stanley, of Winthrop, also compete for the prize for the best exhibit of cut flowers. There are many other competitors for these prizes.

Among the most beautiful floral designs noticed were an anchor made by Mrs. Stanley of Winthrop, and a harp made by Thomas Allen, of this city.

[illegible] ney, of Clifton, has a very fine [illegible] on exhibition.

THE CAT SHOW.

Among the principal entries at the Cat show are a beautiful Persian cat, with one blue eye, by E. R. Pierce of Augusta; a splendid Angora, specimen, by Mrs. F. Davenport, Bangor; an elegant tortoise shell cat, by Mrs. C. C. Preston, Bangor; Richilieu, the hero of the Philadelphia cat show, called the "Wild coon from Maine;" a splendid black coon by H. Ott (crooker) Bangor, a very handsome black and white coon, by Chas. E. Newcomb, Brewer. Over seventy-five entries have been made, comprising nearly all the famous cats in Bangor and vicinity. They are well worth seeing.

THE BABY SHOW.

The Eastern Maine State Fair baby show will take place at Music Hall to-morrow forenoon. Owing to the crowded state of Norombega Hall, it has been necessary to engage Music Hall for this department, which will be under the management of Mr. Thomas White. The prizes will be a gold chain and locket to the handsomest, a handsomely dressed wax doll to the heaviest, and to the lightest, a silver mug. There will be no extra charge for admission to this hall, as the 25-cent hall ticket will have a coupon admitting to the baby show. All premium tickets will also be valid at this hall. The doors will be opened at 10 o'clock. A present will be given to every baby entered. Mr. White, who has charge of this department, will be on hand Friday morning, and will endeavor to make everything pleasant for those who attend or take part.

DESPERATE BURGLAR ARRESTED.

A Creditable Job by Officer Mayville—A State Prison Graduate Captured after a Severe tussle.

About half-past four o'clock yesterday morning, as officer Mayville was crossing the foot of Main street he heard a suspicious noise which he thought must come from one of the shoe stores of Davis & Co., and Leighton Brothers. Proceeding to the back of the store he found a man attempting to escape from the rear of the stores and who made a rush to pass him. Mayville ordered him to stop but he tried to dash around the corner of the Wigwam and run up Hammond street. The darkness preventing him from seeing the chains that separate the side walk approaching the old police station from the drive way, the man fell over them when Officer Mayville closed in upon him. The man was much the larger and stronger of the two and succeeded in getting away, but the officer ordered him to stop on pain of shooting, and not doing so, hurled two shots over his head, and then aimed one at his leg which took effect, making a slight flesh wound.

Even after this he was obliged to use his billy before he could bring him to terms, and once coming to hand he locked him up in the station house. It proved that the man, whose name is William H. Hamlin, of Wiscasset, had been into both the stores of Davis & Co. and Leighton Brothers, effecting entrances by cutting out the putty around the window glass with a chisel and had robbed the former store of about thirty-five dollars and the latter of some two or three dollars, which had been left in the drawers. The money was found on his person and scattered around where they had had their scuffles, and also the chisel and a glass cutter. Williams has served three terms in the State Prison, of two, three and eight years, respectively, and was recognized by Warden Beam, who is in the city, as having been discharged last June. He is probably the same fellow who entered Dean & Pierce's store in this city, Atwell's in Orono, Sargent's in Brewer, and perhaps others in Rockland, all of which have recently been entered in a similar manner. Officer Mayville is entitled to much credit for the plucky and important capture.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Silver King.

The Opera House was packed last evening from orchestra rail to the upper tier of the gallery, on the occasion of the second presentation of the Silver King by the Boston Theatre Company. There will be two more packed houses to-night and to-morrow night.

The Howard Athenæum Specialty Company will play at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MR. J. N. BARKER. The funeral services of the late J. Nelson Barker occurred at Brewer, yesterday afternoon, at half-past two. They were very largely attended, and under the management of Wildey Lodge, No. 103, I. O. of O. F. The floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful. Among the most was a broken column from the First Congregational Sabbath School of Brewer, and a crescent from his former associates in the railway mail service. The funeral services were ably conducted by Rev. E. B. Merrill of Brewer.

Household Hints.

Now that the season has arrived when children delight to press ferns and leaves, it is well to encourage them in so doing by providing them with a press. This is, or may be, a very simple contrivance, and yet effective. A perfectly successful one is made of two strips of thin board, each about a yard long; on one of these boards spread several newspapers; if flowers or the more delicate ferns are to be pressed, put cotton under them and a little over them; put a paper also over them; then lay the other board on, and press tightly by means of four clamps put on at the corners. In this way autumn leaves may be pressed so that they will keep their color, and ferns also seem to lose nothing by the process. With a little care in placing the cotton under the leaves of the pansy it may be pressed and used in making winter bouquets; or if the young folk in the family are engaged in this, let them cut small pieces of cardboard, and after the pansies are perfectly dry, fasten them upon the cards with a very little mucilage. These cards may be tied together in the form of a little book, with tissue paper between the leaves, or they may be kept in a portfolio made for this purpose. Covers for the little books or portfolios are pretty made of canvas with a pasteboard lining; they should be bound with ribbon, and may be further ornamented by painting some of the pressed pansies on the cover, or pansies may be painted on it. This is one of those delightful occupations which keep young hands busy, and, therefore innocent and clean.

The high Queen Anne standing brightened and their stiffness relieved by having scarfs for the top and under shelf piece. Pretty scarf are made of felt with corners of velvet, and on the point of felt which is between the corners a spray of embroidered flowers is put. The velvet pieces should not be square, but in the shape of triangles. The ends of the scarf are straight, and are finished with tassels in bright colors. The velvet is blind-stitched on, and then fancy stitches in bright colors are put at the upper edge. The scarfs should be fluid, as they will hang much more gracefully. They should not be long, but should fall over each end for about a quarter of a yard.

Some ingenious woman has devised the plan of having her curtain poles turned, of pine, at some carpenter's shop, then covering them herself with velvet or silk even, or even with felt. The pole is accurately measured, then the covering is cut, and put on with glue. If neatly done, this is a worthy device. Brass tips are a pretty addition, and the rings should be small brass ones.

The ways in which an omelet may be made to vary are almost without number. The omelet with fine herbs is a favorite with those people who like high seasoning. Then the most fastidious delight in an omelet with mushrooms. These of course must be chopped, or be broken in the bits before they are mixed with the omelet; parsley alone, rubbed very fine, imparts a delicious flavor to a plain omelet; tomatoes added to the number just before it hardens, these having been already cooked, give an excellent relish to it; even in the season oysters chopped fine, or the Little Neck clam, render an omelet a dish to be longed for and to be eaten with indescribable gusto.

A "constant Reader" asks for explicit directions for putting up peaches and tomatoes. If possible, pare and cut up your peaches the afternoon before they are to be canned; don't scatter sugar over them. If this is done, there will be enough syrup drained from them to cook them in, and you will not be obliged to use a drop of water. The quantity of sugar is in the proportion of half a pound of sugar to a pound of the fruit after it is cut up, but a great many cooks do not weigh the fruit and sugar, but put as much sugar with the fruit as they would allow on the table. In my own judgment, it is better to be lavish with sugar. The great merit which home-canned peaches have is that the syrup is rich and the flavor of the peach is not injured. In the morning drain the syrup off from the peaches, put it into your porcelain kettle, if you have one; if not, into a bright tin pan. When this is hot drop in a few peaches, a few at a time; if you are good at guessing just enough for one can, remembering that the peaches will shrink a good deal in cooking, then they are tender so that a broom splint will pierce them easily, they are done. If you leave the peaches whole, of course they will require more time to cook, and consequently it may be necessary to add a little water to the syrup. If you have more than enough to fill a can, or two cans, as the case may be, do not leave them in the syrup to cook to pieces, but skim them out, and after scolding others for the next canful drop them back long enough to heat them through. Have your cans in perfect order before you begin to cook the peaches, set them into a can of warm water, then set it on the stove, and when your fruit is done they will be so hot that there is no danger of their breaking. Put the covers on as soon as possible, always observing that the fruit is steaming. Do all this calmly, take pride and find pleasure in it. This is an indispensable part of the "directions" asked for. To succeed with tomatoes you must be willing to give plenty of time to them. Slice them and let them stand for fifteen minutes, then drain off all the liquor that has collected; boil them an hour and a half. A great deal of scum will rise on them, and this must all be skimmed off. Herein lies the secret of success. This valuable rule was given to me by a neighbor who went on a year after year placidly canning tomatoes after every other woman in the street had given up in despair. The tomatoes should be put into cans just the same as the peaches, and should be kept where it is cool and dark. If your storeroom or cellar is light, get a large dry-goods box and set the cans into it.

You can wine used to flavor soups and gravies is made in this way: Take ripe fruit, mash and strain it through a sieve, let it stand in an earthen jar until fermentation ceases, then bottle it and cork tightly, putting wax over the cork. This is said to keep a long time.

To crystallize plums, take one pound of loaf sugar, dip the lumps into water, and place them in a kettle. Let it boil, skimming it carefully, until it candies. Dip the fruit into this while it is very hot, then put the fruit in a cool room. Stems of pulsins and bunches of grapes may be treated in the same way. Halves of pears crystallized are delicious.

The question, "How shall we spend our winter evenings?" is in season now. If one's evenings are to be devoted to reading, and the early lighting of the lamps, intelligent people are beginning to wonder if there is not some other way of passing the time than in gathering one's friends together and playing them at the whist table. To a fine player of that noble game such evenings are not looked forward to with elation; to play at whist for two hours with a partner who asks regularly, at intervals, "What are trumps?" or who, with a proud air of triumph, plays her ace on his king may be an innocent and even profitable way of spending that time; it may be made a means of moral culture by developing the virtues of patience and self-control, but can it be called an agreeable way? Some of the most truly wretched moments of my life have been those during which I was obliged to attempt some game I could not play with a partner whose respect I wished to retain, but the fear of giving uneasiness to my hostess caused the sacrifice. I have sometimes looked around the room at some so-called social gathering and have detected signs of uneasiness that reminded me of Artemus Ward's remark to his Southern jailer, "Don't get mad, my boss shall be off you do not bring me something to talk." It would doubtless require some courage to invite your friends and announce that conversation is the entertainment which is provided for them and that each is expected to contribute his or her share; but after a few minutes of doubt and formality I wouldn't they all have a better time? There are women who have a genius for entertaining, who can plan an evening's pleasure as a general would plan a campaign. What is possible for her in an evening with cards? Nothing but to hover silently around the tables, not daring to speak lest she may put to flight some weighty calculation or check some effort of memory. There are women who have courage for any and every duty. There is a gale wide open leading into an inviting field. Let them enter and seek out some ingenious method by which some sociability may be encouraged, and by which true conversation may be possible at a reception.
